GREAT LEGAL STRUGGLE.

Over Part of Estate of the Late Eber Cobleigh of Lyndonville.

St. Johnsbury, June 21.—At the opening of county court Monday afternoon the jury was drawn for the trial of the case of Webster & Harris, administrators, vs. Frank C. Lynch, considerable time was occupied in examining the jurors and after a great deal of care the panel was chosen. Inasmuch as this is expected to be a long case of ten days or two weeks the jurors not serving on this panel were excused until called. This does not mean that they are excused for the term because there is much work for them to do yet before the end of the term.

During the afternoon a divorce case was heard before Judge Hall. It was the case of Thomas F. Dockman, vs. Anna C. Dockman. It appeared that Mrs. Dockman had preferred to live elsewhere with her people and that Mr. Dockman clung to his native heath. The result was that Mrs. Dockman went to live with relatives in New Mexico and Mr. Dockman remained in St. Johnsbury and asked for a divorce of the ground of wilful desertion. The which with its accompanying circumstances Judge Hall ruled would not badly affect society and therefore decreed a divorce on that ground. Herbert Hovey appeared for the petitioner.

At the opening of the Webster & Harris vs. Lynch case, C. H. Merwin, an officer in the office of the secretary of the United States treasury department, was on hand from Washington, D. C., to give testimony relative to certain bonds which the late Eber Cobleigh once held and later had cancelled. James L. Carter, manager of the corporation business for the J. P. Morgan & Co. was also present to testify relative to some coal and iron bonds in the Philadelphia, Reading company. The testimony was put in at this time in order to accommodate those gentlemen who were away from their duties at a great expense. They were excused last night and returned to their homes in New York and Washington.

The counsel did not make their opening statements until yesterday morning. Mr. Cook for the plaintiff administrators and heirs told the jury that he expected their evidence to show that Eber Cobleigh was at one time worth from $65,000 to $70,000, that he was about 77 years old when he made a trade with Frank Lynch (the defendant) to take care of him, that he was decrepit and that the defendant had taken advantage of his weakness and induced him unduly to make gifts to himself and family which is in effect to defraud the legal heirs.

Mr. Howe for the defendant denied the statement of mental weakness, saying that their evidence would tend to show that Mr. Cobleigh was a chronic sufferer from rheumatism, but that he was as a rule prudent, thrifty and willed what he did. He said that their evidence would further tend to show that after losing his wife and daughter Mr. Cobleigh elected to change Mr. Lynch to care for him, that Mr. Lynch did that for five years and received therefor $4,000 in bonds and $2,000 in currency; that Mr. Cobleigh did not like his legal heirs, that he was angered towards this native town of Lyndon through some dissatisfaction which arose when he gave the town a new library and that for these reasons the deceased had willed to give his property where he had given and that there was no undue influence.

The forenoon was taken up with the first witness called by the plaintiff, Frank C. Lynch, the defendant in this suit. Luther B. Harris, cashier of the Lyndon national bank, Elias Wilder and W. C. Way were the next witnesses called by the plaintiff. All testified that from what they had testified to on the stand they did not conclude that the deceased Cobleigh was competent to make gifts before his death and during the time in question.

VERMONT HONORED.

Col. N. M. Puffer On Staff of G. A. R. Commander-in-Chief.

Bennington, June 21.—Col. N. M. Puffer of Bennington yesterday received an appointment as aide-de-camp on the staff of the commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., John R. Gilman of Boston. The appointee is a native of Bennington, having been born here May 4, 1847. He enlisted as a drummer boy June 15, 1861, with the second regiment band, which with two exceptions was recruited from residents of this town. He was only 14 years old at the time of enlistment, but after seven months' service with the second, he re-enlisted with the 10th regiment, and served throughout the war. He was in the audience at Ford's theatre on the night that President Lincoln was assassinated. He was commander of the Vermont department, G. A. R., from 1896 to 1897, and was an aide on the staff of Commanders-in-chief W. G. Veazey and J. G. B. Adams.

NEED MORE WATER

So Rutland Company Will Build a New Dam.

Rutland, June 21.—The Rutland Railway, Light & Power company of this city, controlling the street railway, electric light and gas companies of Rutland, which already has a storage pond a mile and a half long in Chittenden and another about half as long in East Pittsford, is to further fortify itself against shortage of water in time of drought by building a dam at Interlachen in Chittenden, which will flood 200 acres. This structure will be built of solid masonry, will be 196 feet long and will have a spillway 50 feet wide. It will replace a wooden structure built over 100 years ago for sawmills. Excavations have already been begun. The total height of the new dam above the original stream bed will be 14 feet. The pond which it will hold back will contain enough water to supply all the concern's needs for two or three weeks.

Fred Stockwell of Lyndonville purchased 100 chickens a short time ago and 95 of this number seemed to be doing well until his brooder caught fire and 80 were either killed or died afterwards from the effects.
